

General CFD risks

- CFDs are complex financial instruments and are traded Over the Counter (“OTC”). You can only exit a position by trading with us, during the trading hours of the underlying asset as stated on our Website.
- CFDs are leveraged products. You need a small margin for getting exposure to the underlying asset. Leverage can magnify both your profits as well as your losses. We operate a Negative Balance Protection i.e. you cannot lose more than the Equity of your trading account, however you risk losing the capital invested with us.
- Be aware of currency risk. You may receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

Stocks Specific Risks

CFDs on Stocks can be generally affected by:

- A corporate action being applied on the underlying asset. In such case, the Company reserves the right to perform any necessary adjustment to the value and/or the size of the position held on the CFD, aiming to neutralize the economic effect of the corporate action on the CFD price.
- Dividend distribution issued by the issuer of the underlying stocks. In such case cash adjustment, positive or negative depending on the direction of your trade, is applied in order to neutralize the economic effect that may affect the price of the underlying stocks on the ex-dividend date.
- Delisting from the relevant exchange the underlying stocks. In such cases, the Company reserved the right to proceed to closure of your positions at the last official mid-price quoted on the exchange.
